

EXHIBIT 5.10. “Describing Things” Intermediate Data Set

Categories: Numbers, Colors, Size, Age, Weather, and Temperature

- 1. The frightened dog squeezed through a narrow hole in the fence to escape.
- 2. Students at LBHS currently attend school for seven hours a day, except for students who have a seventh period. Those students are in school for eight hours.
- 3. The steaming hot chocolate warmed my hands as I held the hot mug.
- 4. Mr. Ferlazzo is a healthy middle-aged man, but many of his students think he is old.
- 5. Juan’s backpack is dark blue with grey straps, but Kenia’s is white with black checkered straps.
- 6. The dim hallway with dark paint and no windows felt scary.
- 7. It was a beautiful, clear day. The sun glistened and there wasn’t a cloud in the sky.
- 8. Most high school teachers enjoy working with adolescents because they are intelligent and funny.
- 9. I dipped my toe into the freezing water and quickly pulled it back out. I was not going to swim in a pool that felt as cold as ice.
- 10. The fiery sunset glowed like lava in the sky.
- 11. The Mayans built massive structures that were used for ceremonies and large gatherings.
- 12. I changed into shorts and a t-shirt because the air outside was hot and humid.
- 13. Twelve students in our class are female and there are 24 students overall. Therefore, 50 percent of the students are female.
- 14. During a heat wave, the temperature remains very high for days at a time.
- 15. I looked out the airplane window at the miniature towns and roads far below me.
- 16. My grandmother is the oldest person in my family at age 94, while my baby brother is the youngest at six months old.
- 17. The powerful wind scattered the leaves across the yard and knocked over a lawn chair.
- 18. The computer cart has 30 laptop computers and one printer.
- 19. We turned up the air conditioner in our car as we drove through the sizzling desert.
- 20. Mia hung festive lights and bright purple streamers from the walls as she decorated for the party.